Definitions

- ✓ An “Itemized Deduction” (such as medical expenses) goes on Schedule A (along with charitable deductions, mortgage interest, real estate taxes, and state and local income taxes (subject to certain limitations in 2024 & 2025).

Must exceed 7.5% of Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) for the tax year.

You need more than $29,200 (married filing jointly, $14,600 single) in Itemized Deductions for 2024 (31,500 and 115,750 in 2022)

to exceed the “Standard Deduction” to benefit from “itemizing.”

- ✓ Itemized Deductions reduce your taxes based on your marginal tax rate (e.g. $10,000 deductions in excess of the standard deduction) x 22% results in a tax savings of $2,200.

More Definitions

- ✓ A “Tax Credit” is a dollar-for-dollar reduction in tax (e.g., a $2,000 tax credit lowers your taxes by $2,000!)
- ✓ A “Refundable Tax Credit” is much better. You get the money even if you owe no taxes! The maximum refundable portion of the American Opportunity tax credit is $1,000. ((40% of the total credit allowed).

IRS Definitions

“ Avoidance of taxes is not a criminal offense. Any attempt to reduce, avoid, minimize, or alleviate taxes by legitimate means is permissible. The distinction between evasion and avoidance is fine yet definite. One who avoids tax does not conceal or misrepresent. He shapes events to reduce or eliminate tax liability and upon the happening of the events, makes a complete disclosure. Evasion, on the other hand, involves deceit, subterfuge, camouflage, concealment, some attempt to color or obscure events, or making things seem other than what they are.”

In america, there are two tax systems: one for the informed and one for the uninformed. Both are legal

Publication 502 Special Education

You can include in medical expenses fees you pay on a doctor's recommendation for a child's tutoring by a teacher who is specially trained and qualified to work with children who have learning disabilities caused by mental or physical impairments, including nervous system disorders.

You can include in medical expenses the cost (tuition, meals, and lodging) of attending a school that furnishes special education to help a child to overcome learning disabilities. Overcoming the learning disabilities must be a principal reason for attending the school, and any ordinary education received must be incidental to the special education provided.

You can't include in medical expenses the cost of sending a child with behavioral problems to a school where the course of study and the disciplinary methods have a beneficial effect on the child's attitude if the availability of medical care in the school isn't a principal reason for sending the student there.

How does it affect you?

In addition to tuition and fees, other costs such as:

- ✓ Books
 - ✓ Computers
 - ✓ Travel and other educational related expenses may be tax deductible
- We recommend that you consult your tax advisor (first thing Monday) regarding the deductibility of these expenses in your situation

Section 213(d)(1) & (2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

Medical Expenses

You can include in medical expenses the cost (tuition, meals, and lodging) of attending a school that furnishes special education to help a child to overcome learning disabilities. Overcoming the learning disabilities must be a principal reason for attending the school, and any ordinary education received must be incidental to the special education provided.

What Do You Need?

There are numerous IRS rulings and court cases that have allowed a deduction where a formal diagnosis by a Doctor or other qualified professional exists of a specific condition that requires treatment.

Court Rulings And Resources

E.F. Glaze vs. Commissioner (TCM 1961-244) -establishes criteria for deducting costs as medical expenses:

- The principal purpose of expenditure is for “medical” reasons,
- If the expenditures directly relate to the treatment, and
- could the treatment reasonably be expected to be effective.

Lawrence D. Greisdorf (54 TC 1684)

- Medical deduction allowed since principal purpose for attendance was school’s therapeutic value and wasn’t its incidental educational benefits.

Court Rulings And Resources

Private Letter Ruling 8401024

- School servicing students with Dyslexia ruled to qualify as a “Special School” under the definition of I.R.S Regulation 1.213-1(e)(1)(V)(a) thus qualifying expenses as medical deductions.

Private Letter Ruling 8447014

- Curriculum of a special school may include some ordinary education, but this must be incidental to the primary purpose of the school to enable the student to compensate for or overcome a handicap, in order to prepare that student for future normal education and living. If school qualifies as special school tuition and other expenses, including expenses of transportation to and from the school to the extent such transportation is primarily for and essential to the Medical care, are deductible.

Court Rulings And Resources

Private Letter Ruling 200521003

- Helping the student overcome a physical or mental handicap and move on to normal education and living is the essence of special education. Normal education is not medical care because it is not designed to help someone overcome a medical disability. Thus, a physician or other qualified professional must diagnose a medical condition requiring special education to correct the condition for that education to be medical care.

The school need not employ physicians to provide that special education, but must have professional staff competent to design and supervise a curriculum providing medical care. Overcoming the learning disabilities must be a principal reason for attending the school, and any ordinary education received must be incidental to the special education provided. Section 1.213-1(e)(1)(v)(a); Rev. Rul. 70-285, 1970-1 C.B. 52.
